1. Use extension cords only when necessary and only on a temporary basis.
2. Use cords with polarized plugs or grounded three-pronged plugs.
3. High wattage appliances need special, heavy-duty extension cords.
4. Extension cords used outside should be specifically designed for outdoor use.
5. Always insert plugs fully so that no parts of the prongs are exposed.
6. Never cover cords with rugs or other objects because trapped heat may result in a fire.
7. Do not overload cords with too many tools.
8. If a cord feels hot to the touch, stop using it and throw it away.
9. Do not drive over or roll equipment over a cord.
